Mr. Hugh M. Cummings

Everything we saw, touched, heard,
became a part of us.

So many questions . . .
so many answers
to find.

Every experience was a learning experience.

This was our big moment.

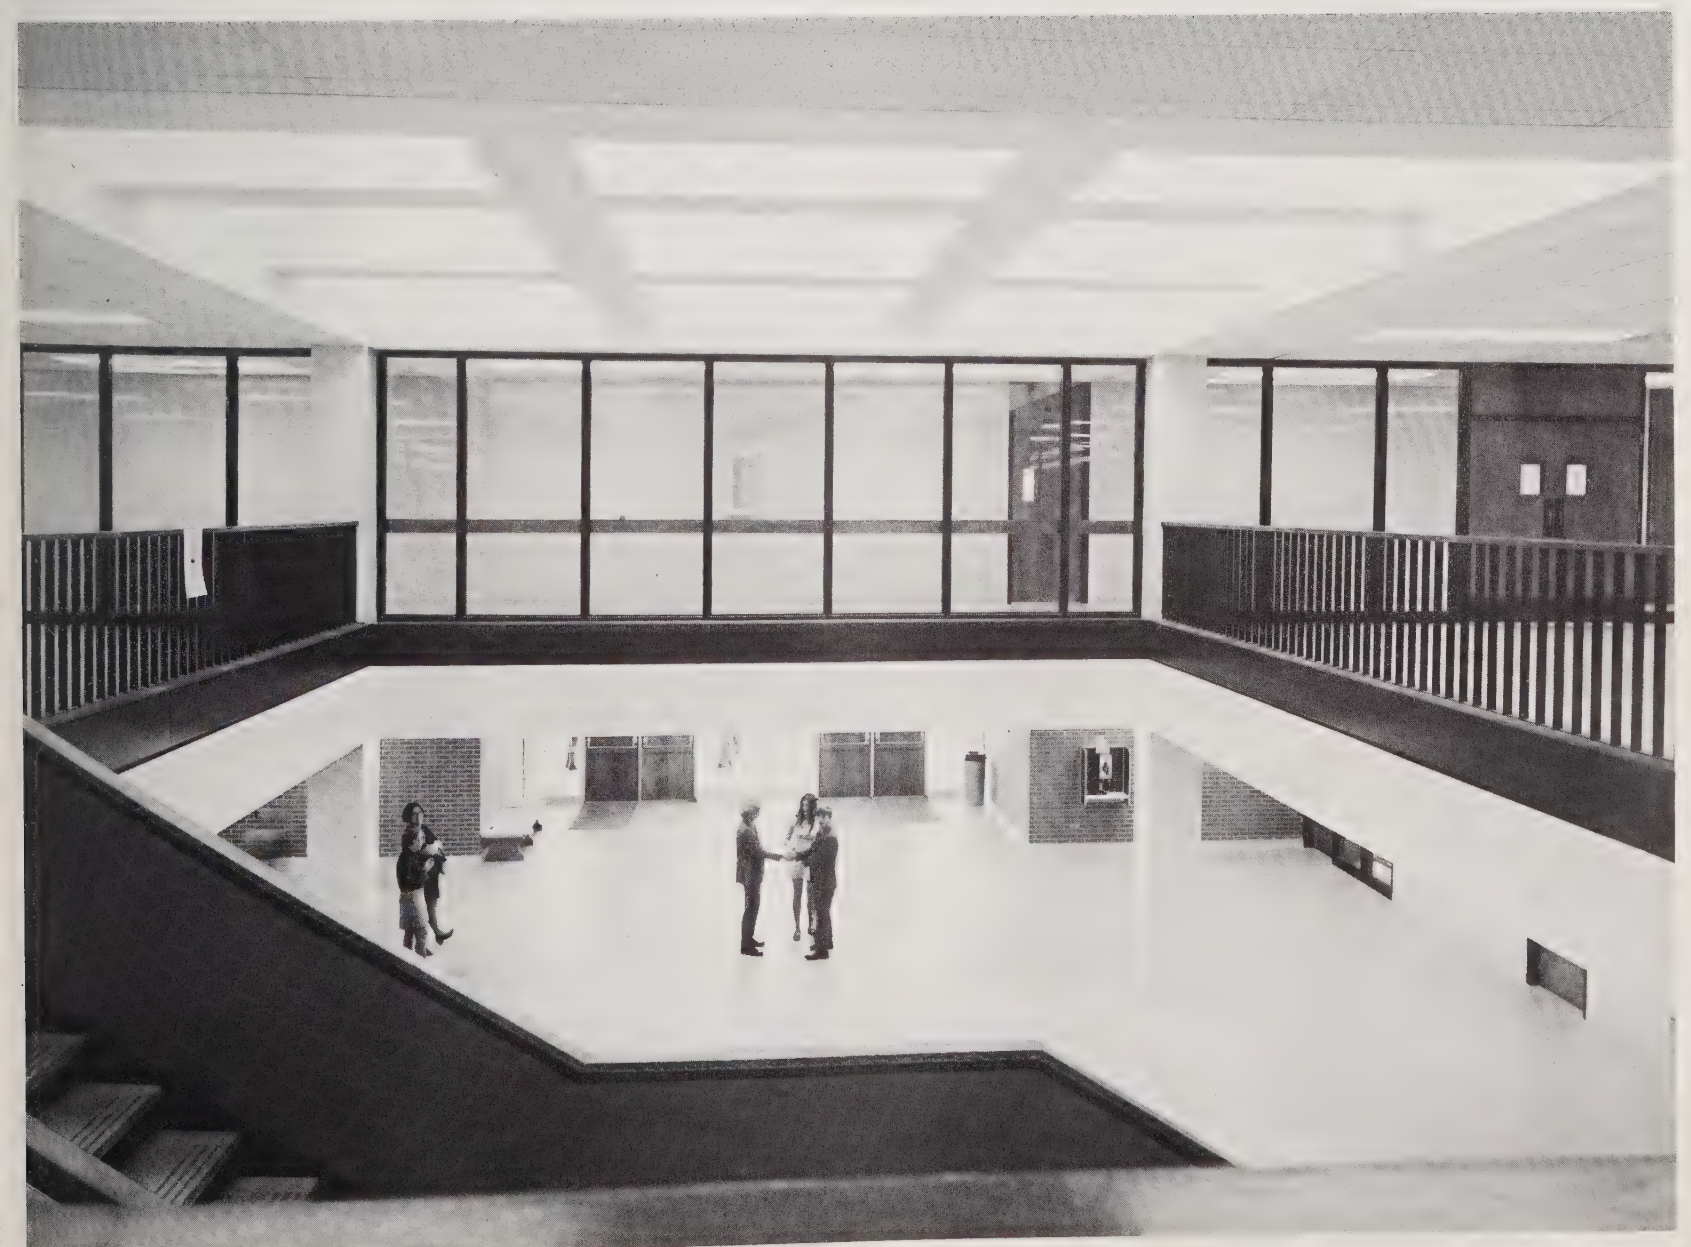

And we knew it.

We were determined to leave an indelible mark on our school . . .

a big enough impression to stand the test of time.

STUDENT LIFE

A New Day in a New School

We greeted each other in a new physical atmosphere. All of us — students and administration — were filled with expectations, anxieties, and questions. But, we were ready for what the year might bring at Cummings.

What Is a School

Is it the block, and paint, and wood, and concrete arranged in three-dimensional order that we call beauty? This is not the school; this is where it meets.

The School Is the People

Together they form an integral body with a unique chemistry of its own.

Teamwork, Cooperation Are the Order of the Day

Our first variety show is presented, and juniors place orders for those coveted class rings. Meanwhile, the Chamber of Commerce, City Council, and School Board members visit our new facility to note our progress and lend a helping hand when needed.

All Is Not Fun and Games

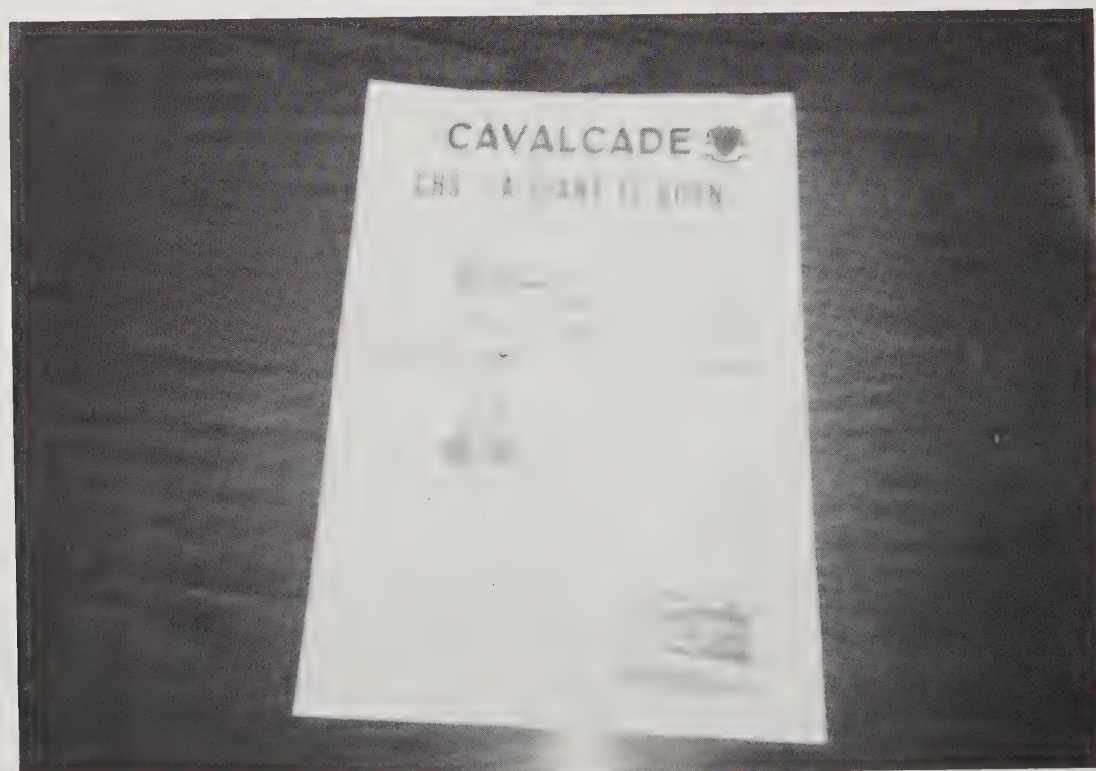

Inevitably, first grading period rolls around, and juniors prepare for a standardized test. The Nulli Secundus staff gets its sales campaign underway, and the first edition of The Cavalcade, our school paper, rolls off the press.

Dedication

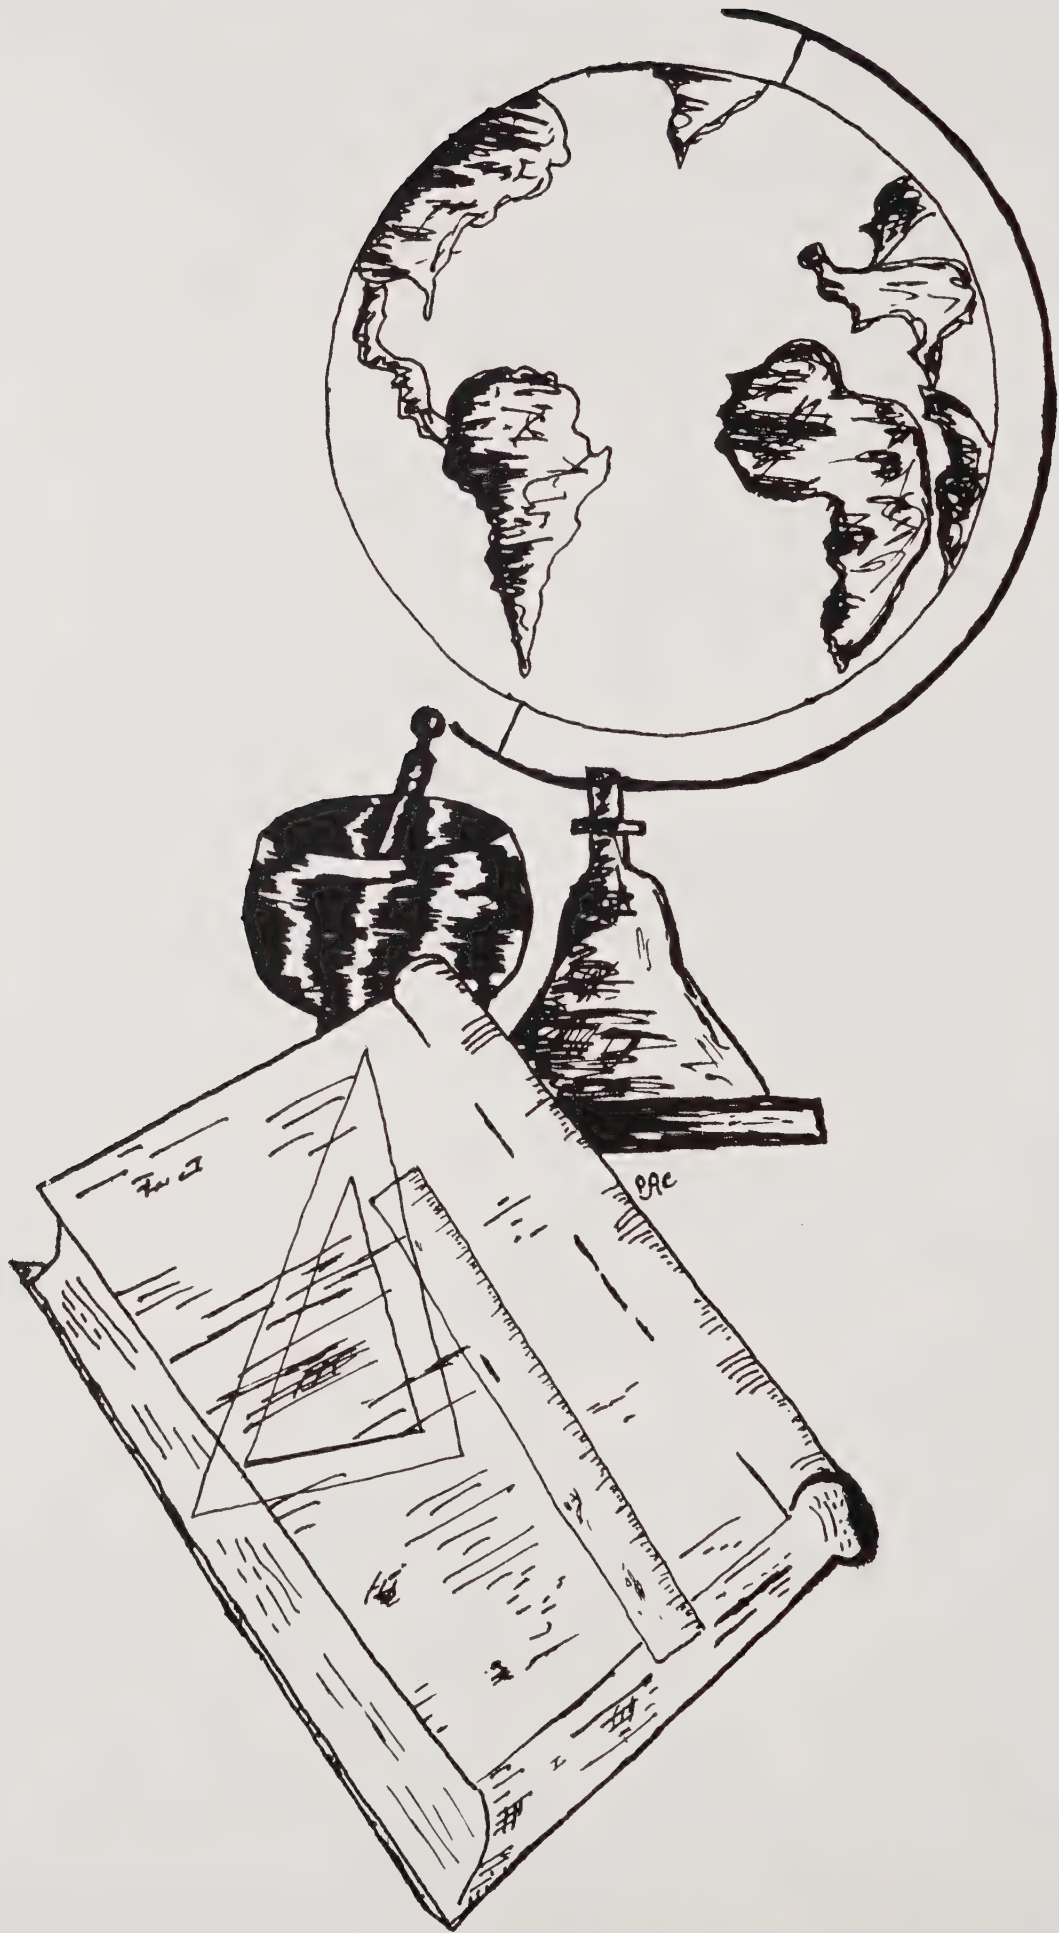

Dr. Brank Proffitt

Superintendent of Burlington City Schools

We, the students of Cummings High School, dedicate this first volume of the Nulli Secundus to Dr. Brank Proffitt. It is altogether fitting and proper that we do this, acknowledging one who best personifies our title and is truly Nulli Secundus — "second to none." Of the many leaders who planned and executed the creation of CHS, Dr. Brank Proffitt is a fitting personification of our yearbook title. He has consistently, enthusiastically, and unselfishly given of himself in the origin of Cummings as a great educational institution. Sustained efforts by Dr. Proffitt have advanced good human relations in our school and community and have laid the foundation for academic excellence emerging here. His dreams and his ideals are tangible here in the institution that will be the alma mater for us and thousands to follow.

Thank you, Dr. Proffitt. This yearbook is but an outward manifestation. Your real laurels live in the lives of the Cummings High School students who, with the wisdom of the years, will give you much greater plaudits.

Nothing, I thought, I was to the perfect page in the to write. Since you know nothing to write. I know you from that neither does academic. I know from a great deal of fun in Mrs. Dyer's French class to know. Be good & Mrs. Moody's hands in even now in class meet. You're a good, the careful, name class. Can't be careful, name
if you're me.

Your friend,
Dorothy (Sue)

number one morale booster. A mighty oak in the jungle of human relations. A peacemaker. A person who believes that every cloud has a silver lining. A heart wide enough to encompass the entire student body and faculty. Who is there among us who has not felt his warmth, his regenerative praise, his personal interest?

Mrs. Brenda Bigelow

Mrs. Janet Leach

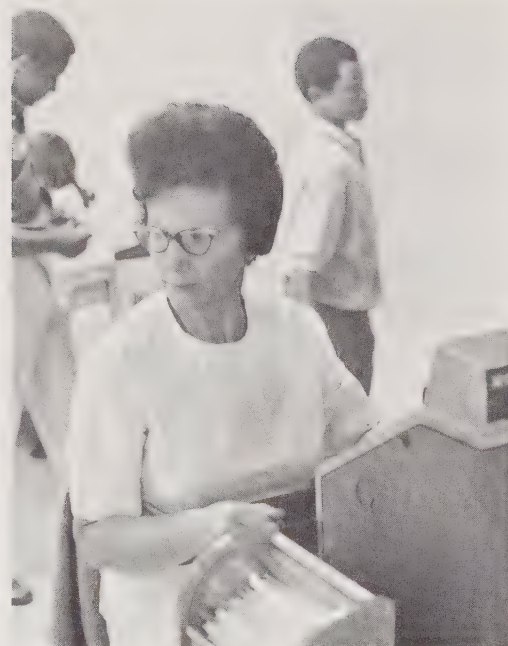

These are the girls Friday for an entire student body — Mrs. Brenda Bigelow and Mrs. Janet Leach. Never too busy to answer questions or assist students and faculty. With interruptions more the rule than the exception, our secretaries never-the-less maintain a ready smile and tranquil efficiency.

Mr. Julius Smith

Mr. Ray Lambert

Members of the custodial staff are valuable assets to our school's operation. Their faithful work benefits all. They, too, are helping to "create an atmosphere for maximum learning."

How high is my PSAT score? Am I eligible to take ECCP next year? How can I improve my study habits? What are the requirements for admission to "X" college? These are familiar questions heard by guidance counselors Mrs. Hazel Poteat and Miss Helen Rogers. For their understanding and their wisdom we are grateful. Their guidance is a special resource that reminds us that we are not alone.

Educational Research

Role-playing for fun and profit and education, that is how several of us became student teachers during our junior year. Going into elementary schools, we became aides, tutors, general helpers for students and teachers. Our tutorial roles gave us new views of the teaching profession and real involvement with teachers.

Connie Dameron conducts physical activity.

Home Economics

Their heads full of dreams, these girls (and a few boys) learn about one of life's greatest missions, homemaking. Relevance has a capitol "R" here. For in a very few years these students will be playing house for "real" in vine covered cottages of their own.

"Changing Times" may be a cliché to some, but it is a reality faced by our Occupational Trades Center. Today's students are getting programs geared to their needs. Our Cavalier Coaching Staff Looked Forward to Victory

A new school, a new student body, and a new slate upon which to write, these challenges greeted our coaches and spurred them relentlessly to reach for athletic excellence. Team spirit was in the air. C.H.S. was being recognized as a growing power. Our staff was not content with some-day progress. They went out for athletic prowess in this, our premier year.

Coach Frank Mensch, assistant football and head wrestling; Coach Jerry Woodside, assistant football, head basketball, head golf; Coach Heywood McKie, assistant football, assistant basketball; Coach Mike Beamon, assistant football, assistant basketball, head baseball. Center, Coach Kenneth Quernell, head football and athletic director.

This was a year of giving our all — getting ready for formidable foes. There were tense moments ahead.

Three cheers for Tommy Allen, faithful manager of both our football and basketball teams.

Did he say that foul was on us?

For once the victory sign replaces the peace symbol as Garry Baldwin approves his neighbor's gesture.

Defeat Left Us Looking Forward to Another Year

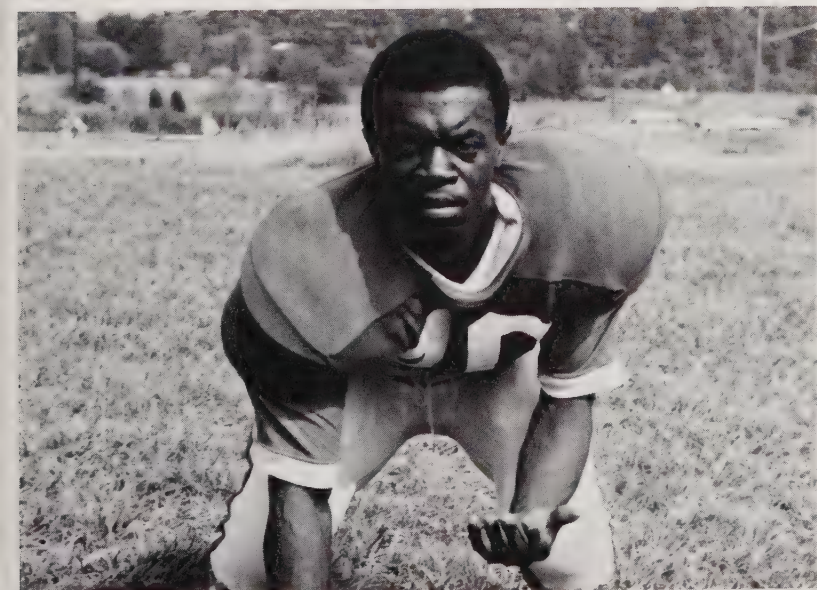

The 1970 gridiron season dawning on CHS found the players, coaches, and students in a state of reserved speculation. Ahead lay one of the toughest schedules any first year school has ever experienced. Throughout the season, the team suffered the agony of repeated defeats, but they determinedly kept on, displaying the true Cavalier courage and spirit.

Coaches Quernell, McKie, and Mensch map strategy on gridiron.

Mr. Mensch rivets his attention to his players' efforts.

Cummings Basketball Team Enjoys Successful Season

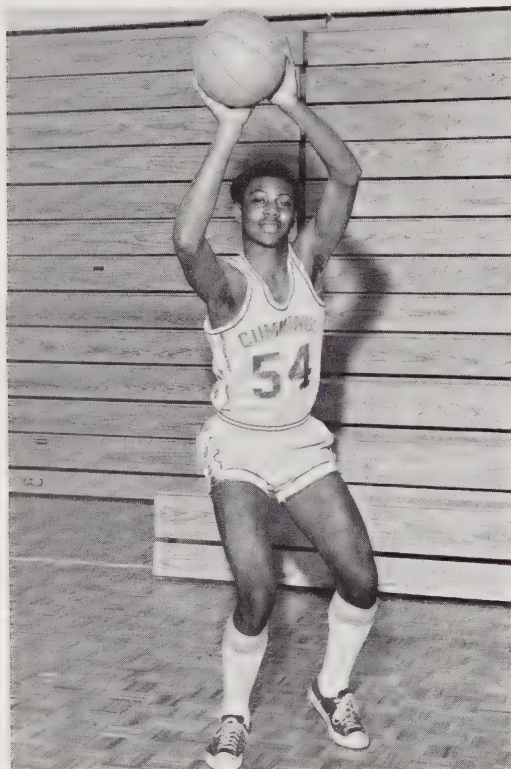

The Cummings basketball team was a gallant band traveling from town to town to vanquish its foes. These cagers attacked the best in the state leaving them shattered in the wake of the Cavalier charge. These Cavaliers were ranked as high as number one and no lower than four. After raging throughout the countryside, the Cavaliers finally came home to protect their newly completed domain, which they did successfully.

Wrestling Draws Enthusiastic Participation

From the deep dark dungeons of the Cummings gym came the grunts and groans of the creatures who inhabited its corridors. These creatures, the Cummings wrestlers, labored and sweated and felt the pain of their animalistic struggles to achieve victory. These grapplers strained for the recognition of ultimate victory over their opponents. Few came to see the individual combattants in their gladiatorial fights, but the few who came enjoyed seeing the contestants give their all in pain and agony for a little happiness in human accomplishment.

GLENN LEE HOLDS SCHOOL RECORD FOR HIGH JUMP: 5' 8"

All Track in Capable Hands of Coach Richard Smith

Indoor Track Team Lists Accomplishments

Setting school records was the mark of this years' indoor track team, which competed in three meets at Chapel Hill. Glenn Lee set a new high jump record with a leap of 5' 8". James Crawford came away from the season with records in the broad jump (19' 15¼") and the 60 yard dash (6.8). Billy Turner showing tremendous improvement in the high hurdles, set a record of 8.1 in that event. Garry Baldwin heaved the shot put 41' 5" for a new school record and James Murdock became the first Cavalier ever to run under five minutes in the mile run with a time of 4:50.

1970-71 Indoor Track Team

Billy Turner and David McMillan christen the new CHS gym through their best efforts at jumping the high hurdles.

1970-1971 Cross Country Team

Believing that experience with strong opponents is more beneficial than victories over weaker teams, Cummings' cross-country team competed this year against a full 4-A conference. With sophomore standout James Murdock's leadership and the dedication of Danny Lashley, the team gained valuable experience in this fall sport. The most outstanding achievement came from James Murdock who won the individual varsity championship of the Western 4-A conference.

1969-70 Outdoor Track Team

Starting with absolutely no experience in any of the areas of track and field, Cummings High School fielded a team of twelve dedicated individuals, all of whom were either freshmen or sophomores. Competing whenever they could get a meet, the Cavaliers' greatest accomplishment was placing fourth in the Alamance City-County meet, defeating three varsity teams. Mike Baughn's second in the discus, Melvin Knighten's second in the 440, and, Billy Turner's fourth in the 120 yard high hurdles were the high points of the big meet for the Cavaliers, and they left the hope for a bigger and better season in 1971.

CHS Grooves

1970-71 It Was a Very Good Year

As the Nulli Secundus has evolved into our first yearbook, we the staff pause at the end of the journey. We remember with gratitude those administrators, faculty members, and students who have been our traveling companions and those who have persisted in reaching the destination.

We particularly thank those students who have joined the caravan enroute and have added their talents, though not official staff members. Many interested students have spent long hours helping surmount obstacles, or helping at crucial points on the itinerary.

Above all, our warmest gratitude goes to the Cummings High School student body and faculty for backing us in our sojourn. We hope you will like this travelogue of our new school in its initial year.
